

Carter Burden Gallery

► About the Carter Burden Gallery

Located in Chelsea, Carter Burden Gallery (CBG) exhibits and cultivates the work of New York City's re-emerging, professional older artists, demonstrating the transformative nature of art and confirming the artists' continued value and contributions to the city's arts culture.

The goal of the Carter Burden Gallery is to create a dialogue with the arts community supporting our belief that older artists must not be overlooked due to age or decreased marketability in the current art scene.

“Carter Burden Gallery exhibits the work of NYC artists over the age of 60, fostering a supportive and culturally-diverse community of gifted re-emerging artists.”

Carter Burden Gallery artist

Carter Burden Gallery exhibits art that is vibrant, cutting-edge and relevant regardless of the artist's age.

► Our Space

The gallery is located in Chelsea at 548 West 28th Street, NYC. The 2,000 square foot gallery has three distinct exhibition spaces: the larger east gallery, a west gallery, and a 7 feet by 18 feet space immediately outside the gallery for experimental public art installation (“On The Wall”).
